Chapter 1

Sometimes good things fall apart so better things can come together (ch 1)

Life isn't always what you expected to be...

In a snap of your finger your world can come crushing down and there is no way you or anyone can stop it.

I guess it's for the best that my parents decided to move to California. It's been two miserable years and the pain is still the same I know I need to let go but it's hard to let go off someone you loved truly.

This new house is nothing compared to our old house. This room isn't me, the walls are plain no color in them, and there's are boxes all over the place that need to be put away. But I guess that's the point of my new begging new state, new city, new friends well here goes nothing.

My name is Sophia Rosas and this is my new beginning.

Chapter: 1

After living in the same place for 17 years moving seems weird. In a way i'm happy that we moved but I left all my friends behind and some of my favorite memories are still back in Georgia sure I hated the weather but still it was our home. Now our home is in Los Angeles. The weather is way much better but things are weird. I don't know anyone here but my brothers.

My dad got a promotion in his firm so we packed everything and drove over here. My parents said it would be great to start fresh in a new school and everything. My older brother Andrew didn't really mind moving he hated Georgia. He's 23 years old and decided to come along with us, besides his job was secured at the firm. My twin Jr didn't mind the move either. I love having a twin brother there is this special bond between us that no one can break. I just hope nothing separates us here.

"Sophie can you come down here" my dad yelled form down stairs

One of the good things about the move is we got a bigger house and I got a bigger room it didn't really matter but I had more space for myself.

"Coming" I yelled back as I ran down the stairs

"Yeah"

"Your mother wants to take you shopping before you start school she said you can get a new look" my dad said

Great here we go again my mom trying to change my style she wants me to wear heals and flowery dress skirts you know more bright colors I'm not into any of does I was before but that was along time ago

"I'll go but only if I can pick my close she doesn't like the thinks I do" I told my dad

"Mija maybe you should buy other colors instead of your dark ones. It's a fresh start, leave everything behind and start all over again." my dad said God we had this conversation all the time

"Umm I don't know dad I like my new style" it's not even new I been dressing like this for over a year now why cant they get used to it.

"Just go with your mom Jr is going too so don't worry"

"fine dad" I replied and went to go look for my twin.

The mall was horrible my mom kept on trying to make me get clothes that made me look like a slut while Jr was over there laughing his ass off. Mom finally gave up and let me get what I wanted but trying to be nice I bought one short skirt and this nice black dress that I saw I only got it because it was black and most of my stuff is black. Afterword's we went to buy school supplies and then went home.

I was sitting in my room when I heard the doorbell ring.

"I got it" my mom yelled well that's weird I didn't know we were expecting company I was running down stair when I bumped into someone. I looked up and saw a guy around 6'2 he was just staring back at me. He had these beautiful honey colored eyes that you could get lost ,he had dark brown hair, and the most amazing pink lips asking to be kissed he had a lip ring on his left side that made him look even sexier he was a light caramel color that went perfectly on him he was wearing black skinny jeans with a blue top and black converse he seemed muscular too. Then it hit me what was I doing ,why was a checking him out after what happen in my last relationship. Guys are the last thing in my head. But now, all I saw was him and I had this need for him . I hadn't notice that we were just there staring at each other till my brother called.

"Hey Danny nice to see you again" Jr said

I turned around and mumbled "sorry" and I went back to my room.

when I got to my room I laid on my bed and couldn't get his face of out of my head as much as I tried not to think about him he was there in my head stuck.

Chapter 2

Sometimes good things fall apart so better things can come together (ch 2)

Second part of Sometimes good things fall apart so better things can come together its edited like the first part I'm still working on the other parts.

Chapter 2

Danny' POV

I was in my room thinking about how summer will be over in two weeks and I would be back to school I didn't want to go back put this was my last year and then I could leave this place. I was lost in my thoughts when I heard my mom calling me.

"Danny come one we have to go" she yelled.

We were going to go visit her old friend from Georgia. We moved to California when I was 6 put every summer I would go back to spend time with my dad, yea my parents got a divorce. I stopped going about 2 years ago.

We where going to go see the Rosas family, they were our neighbors from over there. I remember them, well only jr cause I still saw him every year that I went back we still kept in touch here and there, but his twin Sophie I haven't seen her since I left. She was never around when I went to there house over there for the summer. We were best friends when we were younger but we drifted apart I mean we never saw each other again what did you expect.

"When did they move here" I asked

"They moved yesterday cant wait to see Gaby I haven't seen her in years" my mom was really excited. It had been at least 4 years since they saw each other last but they still kept in touch.

When we finally got to there house my mom ran out the door. We walked in and where greeted by Gaby.

"Gaby it's been so long" my mom said going over and hugging her,

"I know I've missed you so much how are you doing Erica... I'm sorry this is Danny I'm sure you remember him" my mom said turning around to face me

"Of course I do. Look at you you're all grown up now "Erica said

"Umm yeah thanks" was all I could say what else is there to say

"Jr is upstairs if you want to go up" she said

I started going up the stairs when someone bumped into me I grabbed her by the waist before she could fall down. She looked at me and stepped back. she was wearing skinny jeans that made her body look amazing and a red shirt she had brown hair that went down her back and beautiful chocolate brown eyes she look very familiar. Then just like that I knew it was sophie she still had those big brown eyes that I fell in love with at the age of 6. wow she had changed a lot in 11 yrs. She stood in front of me looking at me from top to bottom till she meet my eyes we stood there looking at each other for what felt for hours till someone interrupted

"Hey Danny nice to see you again man" I turned around an it was jr

the girl who I was positive that it was sophie turned around and mumbled a sorry and ran upstairs"

"Hey was that sophie" I blurred out I needed to know if it was her I didn't know why I just did.

"Yeah why" jr replied

"Nah man just asking I haven't seen her in years" wow she was beautiful and I couldn't get her of my mind

"So man what you been up to haven't seen you in a while" jr asked

"Nothing much just going to school and stuff what about you"

"What school you go to" he asked walking toward his room

we talked about what we been doing in the past years turns out he will be attending my school.

Sophy's POV

I sat in my bed looking up at the ceiling wondering where I had seen him before. His face looked so familiar but yet all very different. It felt like I knew him but I just didn't know where I knew him from.

Realizing that my room was way to quite I decided to but some music I plugged in my ipod to my ihome and All the Memories by The Classic Crime started playing.

"I can't stop killing the songs you like

You look at me with eyes

That could beat the sunrise in a contest

No question

Well, talk to all the others

And bring me back to earth

I'm thankful for your mother for what it's worth

Oh, all the memories we had

Framed in our minds like photographs

Take a second, take a second

And make this last

Here where the future meets the past

I can never fall in love again

I can never fall in love again"

All of the sudden my door opened and jr came in singing with they guy I bumped into laughing

"What do you want" I asked

"Mom said dinner was ready and to go down stairs"

"Ok" I said motioning for him to come close

"Who's that guy" I asked he looked so familiar but I just couldn't remember who he was

"It's Danny you remember our neighbor from over there your so call best friend" he said

Danny, Danny why couldn't I remember him. And then just like that I remembered him we grew up together till he moved out here with his mom I never saw him. He was my first crush and when he left I was devastated as mush as a 6 year old can be devastated I didn't know that jr still remembered him.

"Oh" was all that came out

"Aren't you going to go say hi to him?"

"Yeah" I said walking toward him

"Umm hey" I said looking at my feet

"Hey sophie" my head snapped up he remembers me

"You remember me" I asked how could he I mean we lost complete contact

"Yea well a little bit" he said smiling

wow his smile was amazing wait snap out f it. There was an awkward silence till jr finally spoke

"OK you guys can catch up later we need to go to dinner" he said pulling us along with him

Dinner

It was quite well I was quite my mom kept talking with Danny's mom and my dad and Andrew where talking about work and jr and Danny were talking about school I just sat there playing with my food. What's wrong with me I thought?

"May I be excused" I asked

"Sure hunny but you have to wash the dishes tonight don't forget" my mom told me

"Kay"

I went to my room to take a shower I let the hot water run down it relaxed my muscles it fell good once I got out I changed into one of jr's boxers well they where mine he actually never saw them cause I took them form my mom before she could give it to him. I grabbed a big shirt and started untangling my hair. I heard the door close so I guess that Danny and his mom had left so I went down stairs to go wash the dishes.

I was washing when I heard someone behind me. Danny was staining there looking a me from head to toe. I remembered what I was wearing and felt my cheeks burn with my famous blush that I thought was gone.

"Umm hey" I said he snapped back and looked at me

"You need some help with the dishes"

"Sure" he walked to the other side I washed and he dried it was quite for a couple of minutes till he broke the silence.

"So how have you been" he asked

"I'm good and you"

"Same. How to you like it here so far?"

'Its ok I like the weather"

"Yea me to" it was quite again well this is weird

I turned to look at him and he was looking at me he just stared back I looked into his eyes and then down to his pink lips what would I give to. Wait snap out of it. I turned around and continued washing we washed/dried in silence

"Thanks for the help" I said once we were done

"Sure no problem" he responded

"Wait why you are here?" I didn't mean to sound rude but I remember his mom leaving but he was still here.

"Ohh well jr told me to stay over so I did" he responded looking at me with a confused expression

"ok"

"Hey do you want to go explore around tomorrow I could show you around if you want" he asked

It was time for me to move on as much as it hurt to try it was time we had a whole new city to explore tomorrow and I needed to out and and move on.

"Yea sure"

"Cool well ill see you in the morning then" he said and with that he left.

And for the first time in two years I fell asleep with a smile on my face.

Chapter 3: Start Over Again (part 1)

Sophie's POV

I walked up to my room and laid on my bed i watching the celling. what am i doing i can't like him

'why not'

ugh not you again what do you want'

'you didnt answer my question'

'beacause i cant ok'

'come on let go of the past start over again'

no i can't im scare

'dont be'

who are you

'ur smart side hehe'

ugh

Just as i was arguing with myself i hear a knock on my door.

"Come in" i said

My older brother Andrew came through the door i hadn't really talked to him since we mover

"Hey sophie , you ok"? he asked

"Yea" i paused "i guess"

he came and sat at the end of my bed and tap the side telling to go sit next to him and i did

"Are you sure" he asked he seemed worried typical older protective brother

"Yeah how about you" i asked

"Im good" he smiled

"You know that im always here for you wheneve you want to talk or anything" he said hugging me

"Yea i know thanks" i said hugging him back

" Ok just wanted to make sure well i'll let you go to sleep now night, love you" he said kissing my forehead

"Love you to night." i said laying back down on my pilllow i heard the door close so i knew he was gone.

I knew that i could trust Andrew with everything he has always been there for me. We have always been close,i was closer to him then to jr n we were twins. But i guess me and Jr have a different bond than what i have with Andrew. Some time troughout the night i fell asleep and into a dream.

(DREAM)

I was in a forest and alex was next to me holding my hand we were walking along the path when all of a sudden i was alone

"Alex" i screamed looking for him

"Sophie, Sophie where are you"?

"Alex" i screamed again i walked in the direction that i had heard his voice but this time i didnt here nothing it was completely silent

Out of nowhere i was being dragged by someone i didnt know who it was, all i saw was Alex bloody body layin on the floor

"NOOOOOOOO" i screamed

(END OF DREAM)

I woke up to my own scream. My breating was heavy and i was sweating i inheald and exheald trying to calm myself i had been having nightmares since alex died. I turned and saw that it was only 5:30 in the morning i decided to go down stairs and get some water. I sneeked down stairs making sure i wouldnt wake anyone up. My dad was in the kitchen making some coffe

"Hey dad"

"Sophie you up early, are you ok" i knew he heard me scream thats why he was asking after a couple of night my parents stop checking on me to see why i would scream

"Yea i couldn't sleep" i said looking down

"Hey you ok?"

"I miss him so much" i said a tear rolling down my eye

"Hunny it's ok " he said hugging me i wrapped my arms around his waist .I felt secure in my dad's arms he would never let anything happen to me.

I beagan to cry more i couldn't help him i missed him to much

"Sophie look at me"i looked up at my dad he frowned beacause he saw me crying he hated to seeing me sad

"we all miss him sweety but everthing is gonna be ok i promise give it a try start over again im sure thats what he would want besides i dont think he would want to see you crying" my dad was right alex wouldnt want to see me upset he would rather see me happy

"Your right dad" i said wipping the tears from my face

"thats my girl" he smiled

"well i have to get to work so ill see you at dinner" he kissed my forehead and with that he left.

I went and laid on the sofa my dad was right i did need to move on and start fresh. But i couldnt it just hurt so much not having alex with me anymore and to know that i would never see him again.

'you should give love another try"

i cant i dont want to get hurt'

'well you'll never know will you if you dont give it a try'

i sigh what was i going to do i didnt realize i was crying till i felt tears on my hand

"Hey sophie you alright?" i heard someone ask i turned to and saw Danny looking at me with worried eyes

"yea" i lied

"Are you sure " he asked sitting next to me

"No" and i broke down crying i know it was stupid but i just couldn't hold it anymore. He put his arms around me and kept saying that everything was gonna be ok. I felt safe in his arms i wanted to stay there forever his arms felf right around my arms while i burried my head in his chest and cried.

"SHH its ok" he whispered in my year when i finally got control of my crying i let go of him getting out of his embrcase

"Thanks" i mumbled

"You want to talk about it? he asked and i did i mean i had never told anyone besides my family i alwasys kept everything in

"Yeah i thik that's a good idea" i said giving him a weak smile.

Chapter 4

Sometimes good things fall apart so better things can... (ch 3 part 2)

Here's chapter 3 part to heads up its sad

Chapter 3 Part 2: The Past

A YEAR BEFORE

"Haha...Alex...haha...stop" sophie said between her laughter

Alex stopped and turned to look at her straight in the eyes her brown eyes that he love he love everything about her. Her dark brown her her light chocolate color skin her full pink lips every single part of her .

"I Love you and you're the best thing that has ever happen to me" he whispered as he held her face in his hands

"I Love you too" she said leaning to give him a kiss

"Hey Alex you up for some ball" jr asked bursting in through the door.

"Sure why not?" Alex responded getting off the bed

"You coming babe?" he asked sophie while stretching his hand out to her she nodded and took his hand. They walked to there back yard sophie sat in the chair watching her brother and boyfriend play basketball she was happy as can be, her parents and his approved of their relationship and her brothers got along with him very well. She was happy. While playing Alex stopped and started walking toward the chair to take a small break when he collapsed to the floor.

"Alex" sophie yell as she made her way to him

"Jr go get some alcohol and call the ambulance now!!" she screamed Jr ran inside and did what he was told. Alex had not gain conscious yet when the ambulance got there. Jr called his parents and Alex and told them they where on there way to the hospital. Sophie left with the paramedics while Jr took the car.

When they got to the hospital they met up with there parent s they were told to wait. They had been there for about 30 min when the doctor came in

"The parents of Alex Gomez" the doctor asked

"That's us is our son ok" his dad stood up with his wife by his side

"I have some bad news" the room went silent

"We took some test on your son and....." he hesitated a while

"What is it doctor what's wrong with my son" Alex mom asked she was on the edge of breaking

The doctor hesitated and finally spoke

"We found cancer in his brain he has a tumor"

"What no this can't be" Alex dad spoke

"I'm sorry but there isn't much we can do"

"What do you mean you can't do anything" sophie spoke coming from behind his parents with tears spilling down her cheeks and then she fainted. The doctor called for the nurses they took her away and went and took her to a room Jr went with them.

"What do we do know" Alex dad asked

"I'm sorry but it's only a matter of time the cancer is to advanced and there is nothing we can do" the doctor said looking down

"How much time" Andrew spoke for the first time he was in the corner by himself

"We don't know exactly but not much" the room went silent and all you heard were the sobs of everyone in the room

"Can I see my son" his mom asked

"Yes fallow me but please try not to stress him we talked to him and he took it very well and I don't think he wants to see you guys so upset." The doctor said walking out of the door

"Did Alex mention any kind of head ache in the last couple of weeks" the doctor asked as they made there way to his room

"Yes but we thought it was just a regular head ache we though he was stressed because of finals" his mom said

They walked into the room and Alex was lying there. he heard the door open and looked up he gave his parents a small smile he was to weak to make any effort.

"Honey" his mom cried running to his side his dad stood in by the door trying to keep the tears in trying to be strong for his son and wife.

"Mom please don't cry its ok" Alex said soothing her she cried even harder

"Your to young you have your whole life ahead of you this can't be happening" she cried

"Dad" Alex called

"Yeah son"

"Can you come here please" Alex asked his dad made his way to the other side and sat in the chair.

Alex grabbed both his parents' hands.

"I love you both you guys are the best parents that anyone could have had" Alex said while tears started to form in his eyes while silent tears began to run down his dad's face

"Please don't be sad" Alex told them both

They stayed in the room talking about all there adventures that they had as a family when Alex asked for sophie

"Mom where's sophie"

His mom looked at his dad no knowing whether she wanted to tell her son what had happen in the waiting room.

"She fainted it was hard on her but she's better now son don't worry" his dad reassured him with a small smile.

In the other room sophie started to wake up she looked around hoping what had just happen was a bad dream until she realized she was in a hospital in a hospital bed.

"Jr, what happen" she asked

"You fainted in the lobby so they brought you here" he said looking up at her for the first time his eyes were red from the crying he was losing his best friend in the other room.

"Where's Alex I want to see him" she said getting up form the bed

She grabbed her by her hand and they walked toward the room before the walked in she turned to look at Jr she was scared he nodded reassuring her. She placed her hand on the door knob and opened the door. Alex heard the door open and turned his direction to the door and saw sophie immediately a smile formed on his face.

"We'll leave you two kids alone" his mom said while walking next to her husband out the door. Sophie ran over to Alex and hugged him

"Please tell me this a bad dream please" she crying into his chest

"I'm sorry sophy but I can't "he said putting both his hands on her face and making her look at him

"I love you sophie you're the best part of my life" he said giving her a peck on her lips

"I love you too please don't leave" she cried

"Please don't cry babe" it broke his heart to see the love of his life cry he felt the tears running down his face the one thing he was scared of was losing her and leaving her behind

"Don't leave me please I can't live with out you"

"You're going to live without me your going to be happy ok promise me"

"I can't Alex I can't"

"Promise me"

"I promise " sophie said it only made her cry more she hugging onto him earlier today they were both so happy and know Alex was lying here in a hospital bed. Sophie had fallen asleep in the bed next to him her head in his chest while he ran his finger through her hair. The door slowly open an in and Jr came in

"Hey man how you doing" he asked

"I've been better" Alex whispered he was getting weaker each minute

"Jr"

"Yeah?"

"Promise me you'll take care of her "

"Don't talk like that your gonna get better and you're going to take care of her" Jr said making his way to the other side of bed

"No I'm not and we both know it. I know I only have little time left but promise me you're going to take care of her and you're not going to let anything happen to her and you'll watch over her promise me"

Alex sounded so weak that Jr could not deny anything that his best friend asked for

"I promise"

As the months paseed by Alex health was getting worse and worse each day. His parents decided to finally take him to the hospital they new the end was coming soon. They hated seeing him in pain and they knew that in the hospital he would be in minimal pain. Sophie never left his side. She took a leave from school and studied everyday with him. He was the love of her life and couldnt see her self with out him

Sophie was sitting next to Alex in the hospital when the time came.

"Sophie I Love you don't ever forget that" and with that said it went silent all that was heard was the machine.

"BEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEP"

"Alex no don't leave me" she creamed hugging onto him jr ran to find the doctors they ran inside and jr dragged sophie outside she cried into her brothers chest she had just lost her love of her life. Alex parents and hers ran toward them when the doctor came out of the room

"I'm sorry there wasn't anything we could do he died "

"NOOOOOOOOOOOOO don't leave me you promise to be there for me" sophie yelled falling onto her knees everyone was crying Andrew ran to his sisters side and hugged her

"Why Andrew why did he leave me" she cried there was nothing he could say he was silent

"I'm never going to fall in love ever again" she sobbed into Andrews's chest. All she thought was how she would never see his dark brown eyes she love or hear his voice say that he loved her

Ok I'm sorry I know it was sad but know you guys can understand sophy much better and way she kept to herself and she changed so much incase anyone got confused the same day alex when into the hospital thats the same day he dies tear tear....VOTE/ COMMENT =)
